RECALL 1984

Published By The Senior Class Of Quakertown Community High School Quakertown, Pennsylvania

We Appreciate Their Love And Guidance

The class of 1984 dedicates this year's RECALL to Mr. Connor and Mrs. Quinque, our faithful and tireless class advisors.

Mr. Conner teaches political science and holds the position of Director of Athletics, and Mrs. Quinque is the Coordinator of Student Activities as well as a teacher of fine arts. But despite their various and diverse duties, these two devoted individuals still had the time to help and guide us through our high school years.

Their love, energy, and support were invaluable to us — and with that same feeling of love and respect, we dedicate to you, Mr. Connor and Mrs Quinque, the 1984 RECALL.

The Senior Class of 1984
invites you to partake in the Centennial Celebration that involves a glimpse of yesterday, an examination of today and a consideration of tomorrow.

One hundred years have passed since the first graduating class of three passed through these doors.
One century is sufficient time to establish the wealth of deep tradition that goes into the making of the heart of a school.
Now turn these pages and share in the playing ... competing ... laughing ... crying ... studying ... all the moments that go into the making of a century.

A school is not merely an instution which provides knowledge, sports and extracurricular activities. This is, to be sure, an important part. But more importantly a school is the people involved. This page focuses on a few of these people.

Uninhibited Students Masquerade At Madcap Event . . .

HALLOWEEN DAY!

Call it crazy, call it bizarre, but we call it fun. It was a special occasion for everyone at Quakertown High.

There were those who took pleasure in observing and those who performed in this outrageous spectacle. It was a day when student imagination was set in motion with creativity and pizazz. All types of creatures popped out of the woodwork.

The best costumes and groups were awarded various sums of money in their respective catagories.

The best all-around group was comprised of Jon Wilson, Rich Baringer, Jim Stoudt, Donna Martin, and Wendy George. The best group consisted of Gretchen Scott and Craig Thompson. The most original title was awarded to Danielle Frederick as Boy George. The scariest duo was Robin Fortunato and Sharon Amoss. The funniest costume was worn by Dave Long and the ugliest costume was Edna Fisher.

Q-TOWN PEP RALLIES!

"Let's get crazy" sums up the enthusiasm shared by students at our 1983-84 pep rallies.

The cheerleaders did an excellent job of planning and organizing activities for the pep rallies. They led spirit competitions among classes that were won by the rowdy and radical seniors.

Other antics included the off-beat obstacle courses, the double-decker basketball dribbles, and the student-teacher pie throw.

These fun-filled pep rallies had but one goal. This was to psyche up the student body as well as the sports players for a hopeful victory against their rivals.

Much thanks to Jane Weiss and all the cheerleaders for helping to make our pep rallies ones to remember.

Our Dazzling 1983 Queen . . .
Laurie Sine

Every little girl's dream came true for Laurie Sine when she was crowned Football Queen on Friday, November 11, 1983. With her father and Joe Marsala by her side, she received the happy news. It was not until that Friday night that Laurie and her court, Debbie Kaszycki, Missy Shea, Stephanie Baldwin, and Lori Kemp found out about who was actually to be crowned football queen. The girls all wore beautiful wine-colored gowns as they were presented to the team and spectators.

At the traditional Thanksgiving Day Pep Rally, the queen again held court for the student body. Laurie Sine was chosen for this prestigious position because of her school spirit, enthusiasm, dedication, and beauty—all the traits characteristic of a Quakertown Football Queen. Congratulations Laurie!

Our Dreams Keep Us Going According To . . .

HARVEY

It's our dreams that keep us going! This special thought was brought to life for the cast and crew during Harvey, the 1984 Quakertown High School drama production.

The unique fantasy comedy was directed by our own Mr. Dennis Walters, who has had a great deal of experience with Quakertown play productions, and Roseann D'Amico, a Quakertown alumna and theater major at college.

Harvey, which had a long run on Broadway, tells of the antics of a man who sees an invisible rabbit, Harvey, and his family's efforts to commit him.

This year's fine cast of aspiring young actors and actresses consisted of Anita Brack, Jennifer Shepherd, Jeff Bleam, Terry Gower, Kathy Sroka, Caroline Fraticelli, Brant Fuler, Ken Waibel, Del Roll, Laney D'Aquino, Scott Landis, Vicki Baker and Dennis Walters.

To the cast as well as the crew and directors goes a well-deserved "bravo" for their excellent performance. Remember, it's our dream that keep us going.

One great controversy locally was over the building of a pump at Point Pleasant. Proponents of the pump thought it necessary for running of the nuclear power plant at Limerick which would supply power to Philadelphia and surrounding communities, and provide hundreds of jobs. Opponents claimed the operation of the pump would destroy the river's water supply.

Another major local event was the recent school board election. Dr. Lutz, formerly school board president, was defeated in the primary, and did not return for another term. Four new board members were elected, and Dr. Leight took over as board president.

In June, a war memorial in Doylestown was dedicated to those missing in action, prisoners of war, and casualties of the Viet Nam War. A parade preceded the dedication, and Frank and Debbie Parker, former Quakertown Senior High School students and children of a Viet Nam MIA, served as Grand Marshals of the parade.

Within the nation a great deal of media coverage went to the Democratic Primary Elections. It was a fierce battle between former Vice-President Walter Mondale, Senator Gary Hart of Colorado, and Reverend Jesse Jackson. After a very close race, with Hart, Mondale won the largest number of delegates prior to the convention. He is considering a woman as his running mate.

Attracting a lot of adolescent attention was the razzmatazz and music of Micheal Jackson. The hordes of screaming fans are reminicent of the days of Frank Sinatra or the Beatles. His name and album can be found on everything from T-shirts to bubble gum.

In sports, the loathsome Los Angeles Raiders ransacked the Washington Redskins for a 38-9 victory in Super Bowl XVIII. Never before in Super Bowl history has one team so completely destroyed the other team. The Phillies were defeated by the Orioles in the World Series in a close seven-game attempt.

Quakertown High School seniors will get a chance to predict their future as part of a program to fill time capsules for the high school's 100th anniversary now under way.

Among items to be placed in the two capsules that will be sealed for 25 years, will be forms from each student who will fill in the line "In 25 years I will be doing ..."

The plan, said project chairman Rachel Prince, a high school senior, is to open the capsules at the 25th class reunion where students will be able to compare their career hopes with their roles in the year 2009.

The effort to fill the capsules is a senior class project and all students are being urged t participate.

"We're seeking anything meaningful to put in the capsules" which are actually high school lockers that will be closed off, said class spokesmen. "We want the capsules to be a chest of treasured memories."

The items can be anything from a piece of art to a pom-pom, music, or other original

Just 15 months after the death of Soviet Premier Leonid Breshnev, his successor Yuri Andropov died. Chosen as his successor was Konstantin Chernenko.

Sarajevo, Yugoslavia was the site of the 1984 Winter Olympics. Astounding the world with precision and grace in ice dancing were gold medalists Jayne Torvill and Christopher Dean. Their artistic impression won them perfect 6.0 scores from all nine judges, which had never happened before in Olympic history. American figure skater Scott Hamilton also won a gold medal, while pairs figure skaters Kitty and Peter Carruthers took a silver. Other United States medalists were in the Women's Slalom and Men's Downhill skiing events. The Summer games will be held in Los Angeles and Americans are enthusiastic despite the boycott of the Soviet Union, Poland, and other Communist bloc nations.

In September, the Soviets shot down Korean Airlines flight 007 with 61 Americans on board, including a U.S. Congressman. The reason why is still a mystery. The Korean pilot had accidently strayed off course and flew over a Soviet missile testing site, and the Soviets used excessive force on an unarmed civilian aircraft.

The next two months brought a time of victory and tragedy for Americans. Early one October morning, 400 U.S. Marines landed on the shores of a tiny Carribbean island named Grenada to rescue the people from Cuban subversion. Operation Urgent Fury was a success, the 5,000 U.S. troops capturing the island from the 600 Cuban troops in a five-day battle.

But tragedy struck in Beirut as 229 American boys were killed by a truck carrying explosives. Its suicidal driver crashed into the airport where 300 Marines lay sleeping. Their families waited in tearful suspense, praying it was not their boy's body they saw dragged out of the rubble on the news. Later this year President Reagan decided it would be best if he pulled the troops out and kept them on ships offshore.

ideas. "But we won't accept anything that's too weird," said Miss Prince.

"We hope the idea works out well and that everyone takes part," she said. "A lot of students seem interested. There seems to be a good response."

Contributions from seniors will be accepted through the second week in April and are being submitted through homerooms.

Seniors rule the hall competition

Let's get fired up! Jim Lindsay, Todd Besch, Deb Kaszycki, Lori Kemp, Missy Shea, Audrey Afflerbach, Romni Neiman, and Cheryl Campbell

Nothing raises Panther spirit higher than the annual Thanksgiving Day football game against Pennridge. This was reflected in the "Spirit Week" activities just before the game.

Monday was sweatshirt, sneaker and bandana day, and that evening saw the decoration of the school for the hall competition. Each class was assigned a different hall, to be judged on Tuesday morning. The verdict was not surprising: seniors win again! Tuesday was also hat, tie, and shade day, with many students looking remarkably like "second-story" men.

Wednesday brought all our enthusiasm to a climax. Not only was it Blue and White day, but the whole school came together in one massive display of psyche in the big pep rally. Speeches from the coaches and players brought cheers from the student body, and spirits rose even higher at the bonfire that night. Even though high winds forced the blaze to be extinguished early, we were ready to face the Rams and say, "Our spirit is highest!"

Many parents are given the opportunity to view their children's talents through concerts and sporting events, but only rarely does an opportunity present itself where a student can "show off" academically. This year, some biology students were given that chance.

As part of her regular course of study, Mrs. Walter assigned her general biology students to design and execute an original science research project. The students pictured here turned in the best ideas in her classes. These projects, which ranged from plant studies to a bacterial analysis of the school environment, were then presented in an evening showcase.

"It was a valuable project," said Mrs. Walter. "It gave parents an opportunity to see kids in an academic activity." It also gave the community a chance to see QCSHS students in action!

. . . BY POPULAR DEMAND

"If you could pick anywhere in the country to vacation, where would it be?" This was the question presented to the Class of 1984 sometime in October. Many responses were returned, but the overwhelming favorite was Orlando, Florida— Disneyworld! One-hundred eighty-four students (with chaperones, of course) ventured to the Sunshine State for four days and three nights of fun in the sun.

The level of anticipation was high, and the final week of waiting found many seniors counting the hours until that magic moment: our 3 A.M. departure. After a bus ride to Philadelphia and a hop on the plane, our arrival was greeted with balmy eighty-five degree weather. A short rainstorm did not dampen our enthusiasm for a day at Disneyworld, to be followed by a pizza and swim party at the hotel.

Sunday brought the "main event". We spent the day at Wet 'N' Wild. Students enjoyed such exciting (and sometimes frightening) rides as the Kamikaze, Roaring Rapids, the Corkscrew, and many other. Some were just content to lie in the sun, an activity many regretted. Later that evening, it was on to the Polynesian Luau, which included dinner, a show, and a brief demonstration of Mr. Kraft's skill at the hula. Then it was back to the hotel for a dance and bed.

Monday, our last full day in Florida, brought another experience at Disneyworld and Epcot Center. Afterwards we spent an evening at Roller Ranch for a skating party. The next morning we slept in, and left for Sea World. After a watery day, we departed with mixed feelings of regret and relief.

It was worth the endless door-to-door sales, and all the money. We would like to thank the chaperones, and especially Mr. Connor and Mrs. Quinque for all their help and support. We had a great time; thanks for the opportunity!

ADMINISTRATION

A SPECIAL CLASS

James Beerer, Principal

Dear Seniors:

With the 1983-84 school year completed and 12 years of education at a close, I trust that you find your new experiences in the world of work and college to be successful and rewarding. The three years you have spent with us here at Quakertown Senior High School have been most memorable. Your successes in athletics, academics, as well as your warm and friendly spirit serve as a reminder to all of us of your abilities and willingness to dedicate yourself to challenges and productive ventures. Your Senior High School years were met with many experiences and challenges which you met with great vigor and with great enthusiasm.

As your principal, I cherish many fine memories and thoughts of you as a class, and many of you as individuals. During your tenure here at the High School you maintained a very positive relationship with my office and, moreover, you displayed the necessary courtesy and warmth toward each other which truly makes for a successful school and for a successful student body. As seniors, your leadership was called upon many times to demonstrate to the underclassmen your willingness to engage your responsibilities with dedication and with a self-directed attitude. Your maturity, esprit de corps, and enthusiastic participation in activities all served as a model for the younger members of our student body. As a result, the next two years look extremely positive and bright as we work toward improving our school and certainly toward the commencement for the classes of 1985 and 1986.

Throughout the three years that you have spent with us, your class officers, student government, and class executive committee were dedicated to providing you with the best leadership and direction possible. The leaders within your class were many and they showed their abilities and talents in directing your class toward a successful class trip, a successful band and chorus trip to Nashville, Tennessee, and a successful prom and, finally, commencement. Those events were just a few of the many activities which took place during the school year and which provided evidence of your participation in cocurricular ventures. The combined enthusiasm of your class and the leadership and direction of Mrs. Quinque and Mr. Conner helped to provide you with perhaps the best environment that could be generated for a class in the Senior High School. As the Centennial Class you were afforded many of the accolades that very often were missing when recognizing the efforts of previous classes. Being the one hundredth graduating class you received recognition and commendation from the public and your parents. You measured up well under such renoun and you demonstrated pride in your school and classmates.

In closing, I am extremely proud of you as a class and trust that you will remember Quakertown Senior High School as a place where caring and trust were nurtured and where a faculty of devoted teachers provided you with an education which afforded you the best opportunities and prepared you appropriately for your future career goals. You are a class with a tremendous amount of spirit, dedication, and purpose and we will sorely miss you. You, the class of 1984, will go down in the chronology of the many classes in the last hundred years as one of the finest because of your collective ability and performance.

James Beerer,
Principal

IN A SPECIAL CENTURY

Mr. Kawtoski, assistant principal

Miss Steckel, Assistant principal

Dear Seniors:

Whatever years are allotted to each of us, no one ever knows ahead of time; that is one of the "Sweet Mysteries" of Life. One thing is certain, however; when a moment passes by it is gone forever, and nothing can recall it. So it is with the years in High School, which for our seniors, are only memories now.

For some, these remembrances are tender and warm; for others they are bland, neutral, perhaps even colorless. In Shakespeare's words, however, "What's done cannot be undone." Nonetheless, there is a large-looming future awaiting all of you which ought to be seized aggressively so that your lives will be filled with time well spent and years well lived. Take the future and let it be yours; make the world and your place in it what they ought to be.

Fondly and with best wishes always,

Frank Kawtoski,
Assistant Principal

Dear Seniors:

It has been said that we get out of life what we put into it. Your efforts in studying, in writing, in practice and in the hours you have put into your classes have been rewarded by the new knowledge you have gained, knowledge that no one can ever take away from you.

Your time here has ended but your learning continues, for all of life is a school; and we learn by everything we do. I encourage you to go out and live life and learn from it as surely as you have learned from us over the past years.

May you live life to the fullest; may you enjoy; and ---may you learn.

I'll always remember you—

Mary A. Steckel,
Assistant Principal

Showing The Way . . .

When a student walks into the guidance office, many things meet his eye at once. To the right is a bulletin board with notices of scholarships and job openings. To the left are coutless shelves of college information. Beyond that is Guidance Information System (GIS), the computer that gives students access to schools and financial aid across the country. In back are the doors leading to the offices of the class counselors. And in the center of it all, beneath the world's greatest collection of mobiles, is the smiling face of Melea Rupert, the guidance office secretary.

The guidance office is the center of communications for students with scheduling problems, plans for post-secondary activity, or personal problems. In charge of the sophomore class is Mr. Dave Lesko. Mr. Wilmer Denlinger has custody of the junior class, and Mrs. Mary Bogle counsels the senior class. Students are welcome here anytime to talk, pick up forms, or just to say "Hi." Students are always treated with the warmth, respect, and friendhsip that makes "I'll be at guidance!" the favorite phrase of many students.

School Board: Seated: Mrs. Noblit, Dr. Leight, Standing: Student Representative, Jim Stoudt; Mr. Wilson; Mr. Stauffer, Mr. Boyer, Dr. Holbert; Mrs. Pummer; Mr. Licpoli; Mr. Ackerman, Mr. Walsh

1983-84 was a relatively quiet year for the school board. There was neither the threat of a teacher strike as in 1981-82 nor a huge budget cut as in 1982-83. However, it was an election year for the school board. Four members, Dr. Lutz, Mr. Muir III, Mr. Moyer, and Mr. Davis, were not re-elected or chose not to run. Newly elected members were Mr. Ackerman, Mr. Licopoli, Mr. Walsh, and Mr. Wilson, and the new officers became Dr. Leight, president; Mrs. Noblit, vice-president; and Mr. Stauffer and Ms. Hrabina remained treasurer and secretary, respectively.

Although it was a "quiet" year, many important items came up for consideration. An addition was built at the Haycock Elementary School and the Tohickon Valley Elementary School received a much-needed "facelift".

The board was visited twice by state representative, Paul Clymer, in response to an important piece of legislation that would affect the administrative powers of the board. They were also visited by architect in charge of the Haycock addition, and the citizens advisory committee. This last group presented a report on the kindergarten system in the district. The board also heard comments from teachers regarding the new seven-period format in the junior highs (effective next year).

Student representative, James Stoudt and alternate, Mark Gahman, were elected by the student body in early fall. They reported, on a monthly basis, the events happening in all eight schools in the district. At their last meeting, Dr. Holbert commended them for their thoroughness and involvement.

The Joint School Authority is a local governmental body whose members are appointed to five-year terms by the Board of School Directors.

The major role of the Authority is to handle large captial projects for the school district such as constructing new buildings, renovating old ones, or acquiring land. In other words, they are the experts upon whom the School Board turns to finance a construction project.

Around 1953-54 the first Authority was formed to aid in the construction of the present Senior High School. Since that time, it has been instrumental in the planning of Strayer and Milford Junior High Schools and Neidig Elementary School.

Most recently, they obtained the funds to renovate and add a seven-room addition to Tohickon Valley Elementary School making it one of the most energy efficient and aesthetically pleasing structures in the district. Also, they assisted the Board of School Directors in acquiring funds this year to build a much needed addition to Haycock Elementary School.

Members of the Authority are men with vision. Sometimes they are former School Board members, but always, they are well respected community residents.

During this year as we celebrate the High School's Centennial, we would like to pay tribute to all present and past Authority members who have dedicated their time to the youth of Quakertown.

A special thanks should also go to Mr. Robert W. Detweiler, the only remaining charter member of the Authority. He unselfishly devoted many hours of his time during the last 31 years to assure that the youth of Quakertown Community would obtain the best education possible.

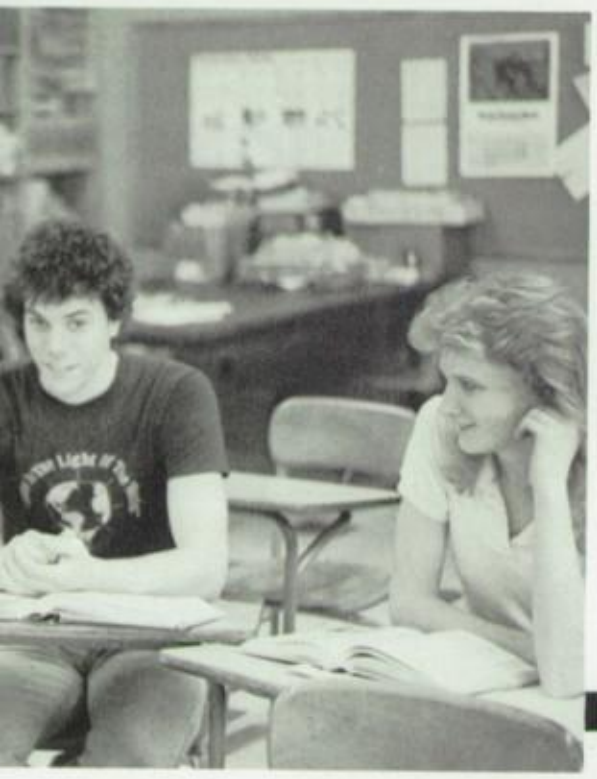
LANGUAGE ARTS



Students present a group seminar in Mr. Mayer's English class.

Students in Mrs. Wieand's fundamentals of Composition class work on essays.

With high school come many new experiences, one of which is the higher level of learning we are exposed to in the English department.

We graduated from GREAT EXPECTATIONS and mastered JULIUS CEASER in tenth grade. We also polisehd up on our grammar and vocabulary skills which we were destined to expand upon in our last years of school.

Eleventh grade brought us the works of Emerson, Thoreau, Poe, Hawthorne as well as many others. With these works came a better understanding of human nature, our own individuality, and our real responsibilities. We also learned the intricacies of researching a literary subject and writing a reference paper. In addition, preparation for the SAT's was a prime concern.

Senior year was a year in which we became quite familiar with British Literature. We studied such great classics as MACBET, HAMLET, 1984, THE LORD OF THE FLIES, BRAVE NEW WORLD, and many of the traditional English "biggies".

SOCIAL STUDIES

Our social studies program began in tenth grade world Cultures class where we were exposed to the many different cultures of the world. We studied diverse social, political and religious backgrounds which expanded our knowledge of the globe.

Eleventh grade was a time of enlightment for most of us. It was the year that familiarized us with the workings of our country. We studied the United States' involvement in wars throughout history and the economic as well as the cultural growth of the nation.

While in twelfth grade we maintained a focus on the United States, we went in more depth in political and economic operations of the United State government. We also became very familiar with the stock market. One of the required activities involved selecting a stock and tracking its progress throughout the school year. Another major concern of the course was learning the mechanics of the income tax forms.

eve Schey works on a program

As the outside world is expanding rapidly in the fields of technology, our mathematics department has endeavored to keep up with it. An increasing emphasis on computer technology has brought a corresponding increase in the availability of computer time and courses here at QCSHS.

For the student who truly enjoys mathematics, there is great diversity in the options open to him. The courses open are at all different levels, assuring at least one elective for any taste.

In tenth grade, most students experience Mrs. Peischel's geometry class. For the accelerated student, there is Algebra II. From there, the possibilities are endless. There are computer courses, Probability/Statistics, General Math I, II, III, Foundations of Mathematics, Trigonometry, Advanced Math, Calculus I, II, III, and many semesterized combinations of these.

For the student having difficulties, the math department can be of help too. As in the past, there are PSAT/SAT help sessions for students wanting to improve those scores. A new innovation this year was the math club. Students were told to take advantage of a math club members' free tutoring in all subjects and class periods. All of these different features combined to make students agree with Mr. Mushrush's favorite assertion: "Isn't math exciting?"

SCIENCE

Many students at QCSHS were "blinded" by science this year. With the wide range of courses available, graduating seniors are well prepared to tackle more advanced and technical courses at higher levels.

In tenth grade, biology and ecology are mandatory courses. Here students learn about photosnythesis and basic genetics as well as genus and species.

In eleventh grade advanced biology and physics take precedence. Students discuss kinematics and vectors and hold the inevitable contest to see who can be absent the longest period of time during the cat dissections.

Chemistry and physics weigh heavily on seniors. Here scholars explored special relativity, nuclear physics, and discovered the wonders of spectroscopic notation.

BUSINESS SKILLS

While much of the academic focus is placed on college preparatory courses, QCSHS offers many courses that are useful in obtaining places in the job market. Business majors concentrate most of their studies in this area, but many college prep students also take business related courses to supplement their skills.

As business majors, students take courses in business law, stenography, accounting, money management, typing, and many others. A new innovation involves the use of computers and their applications to the business world. The culmination of three years of hard work is the one week on-the-job experience in the senior year. Business students are placed with local businesses in the "real world" for practical experience. For students who want extra involvement in these areas there is FBLA (Future Business Leaders of America).

ARTS & CRAFTS

A backdrop, one of the accomplishments of Mr. Kraft's dedicated Art II students.

As usual the art department was engaged in a variety of activities this year. In commemoration of the centennial celebration, all students were required to create a project reflecting the Quakertown School District's 100 years of service in education. However, the catch was that the project was to be done on a paper bag. This gave the projects a rustic effect which added to the nostalgia of it all.

There was a field trip to the Philadelphia Museum of Art. This was a well-attended activity as well as an enlightening experience for Quakertown's aspiring artists.

Students also participated in the annual spring Arts Festival. Here students got the chance to exhibit some of their projects.

Students taking art chose either crafts class which is taught of Mrs. Lohman, or fine arts which is taught by both Mr. Kraft and Mrs. Quinque.

Any visitor to the school might wonder at the origin of the beautiful melodies that greet him as he enters. But as most students know, it is simply the band and choir hard at work. It takes a lot of preparation and guidance from Mr. Kenney and Mr. Rivera to present those polished programs shown periodically through the year, and many students devote periods 10 and 11 to that task.

Due to a school board ruling, musicals were reduced to once every two years, but the music department had another project to occupy their time. For the first time ever, the music department at QCSHS participated in a national competition. They traveled to Nashville, Tennessee in late March to the "Sounds of America" Music Festival, where all their hard work was finally rewarded. The jazz band and concert choir both received bronze medals, and the concert band was awarded a medal of merit. In addition to the competition, the department had its regular regimen of concerts, ceremonies, parades, festivals, and football games. A versatile group of students, they performed everything from Handel's "Messiah" to a jazzed up Christmas hymn ("Farandole") to a Michael Jackson medley.

For the true student of music, there were also textbook coursed, such as music theory and music: culture and style. For those students who sought more cultural development, there was the foreign language department.

The three languages were taught for a maximum of four years, beginning in ninth grade. The most popular language here, Spanish, is taught by Mr. Donchez. French I, II, III, and IV was taught by Miss Rooney, and German II, III, and IV was taught by Mrs. Sieber. Mrs. Moore went to Strayer to teach German I. The favorite activity of all the language classes (besides tests) was the culture day, which gave students an opportunity to sample foods from the cultures they studied.

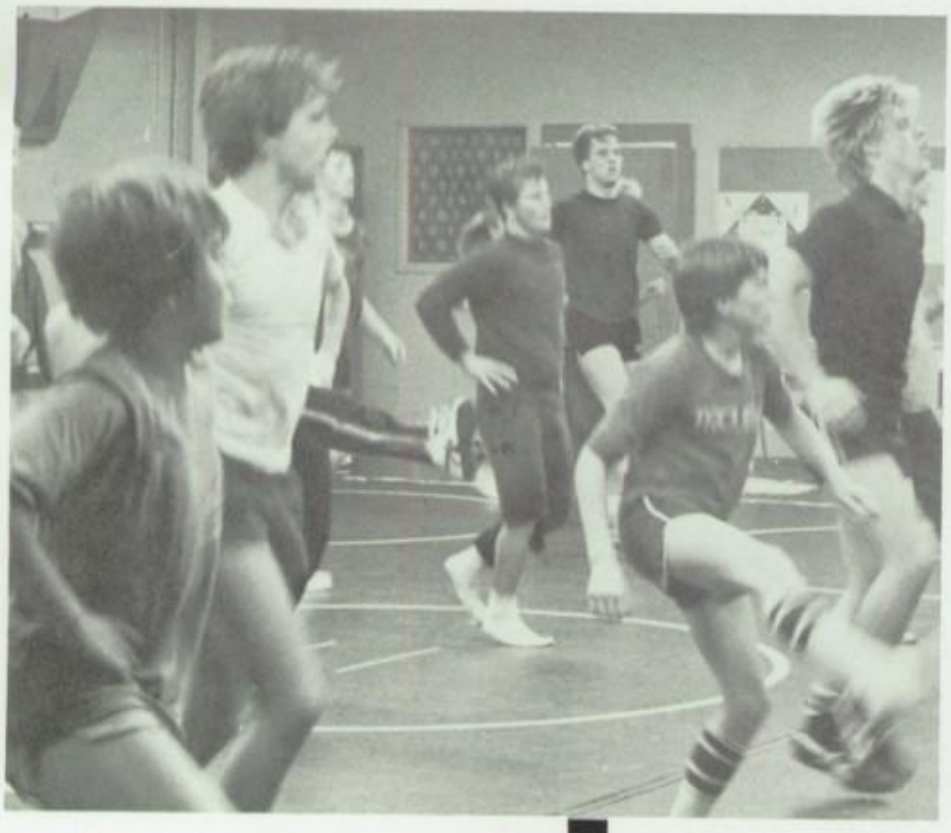
Phys-Ed & Health



The boys tone up to Jane Fond'a "Workout"

It is no secret that many students dread gym class as much as they do death, but it is still a necessary part of the well-rounded student's day. Cries of, "I can't take gym! I have a hangnail!" or "Can I go to Guidance instead?" go unheeded as the gym teachers strive to keep students in top physical condition.

Many activities were part of this required period. Students were engaged in hockey, soccer, speedball, tennis, aerobics, and the physical fitness tests. This last project was a little different this year; it involved a new shuttle run, a triple jump, and a twelve-minute run. Although these tests, or the class, may not have been the most popular activities at QCSHS, they helped show students the importance of staying in shape.

The other side of physical education was Mr. Young's health class. Here, juniors were taught about the physiology of the human body, The major systems of the body were discussed, and students experienced the writing of Mr. Young's infamous outlines. Class discussion, homework, and filmstrips all combined to instill in students a knowledge of the human body.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS / HOME EC

Tom McAndrew in a gourmet cooking course

Mark Iwicki and Dave Crouthamel do the dirty work

The smell of wood, the singing of machinery and the scratching of the pencil are some of the things a student experiences when he walks into an industrial arts class. Industrial arts includes everything from graphic arts to metal shop. Students have the opportunity to develop their creativity. Elaborate pieces of furniture such as a grandfather clock or a roll-top desk have been designed and built in class. Many of these projects were on display during the Spring Arts Festival.

Do you want to learn how to make a soufflé or just a simple hard boiled egg? Maybe creating an outfit in high fashion is more appealing. Well, whatever the desire, students could elect to learn how to do these things in Mrs. Peck's Home Economics courses. One of the highlights of the year was the chance to be a parent for a week. Students in the Parenting Skills course carried eggs to represent their children in this unique activity and had to give them the same care and treatment as they would actual children.

Driver Education And Special Education

Many courses are required of the sophomore, and probably the most famous (or infamous) is driver education. Taught by Mr. Ebersberger, and later, Mr. Trivelpiece, this course involves classroom theory dealing with the driving experience. Students do questions from textbooks, study the Pennsylvania driver's manual, and watch endless filmstrips. Students can only go so far in the classroom, however, so the school has endeavored to meet this need also. Behind-the-wheel, taught by Mr. Kline, Mr. Ebersberger and Mr. Trivelpiece, is that facet of driver education that provides the student with practical experience.

Another need of students is served by Mr. Pilecki, who teaches the special education courses using the Apple computer and other devices. These courses are designed to help those students with learning disabilities.

Tech School - A Learning Experience

Aside from regular classes at Quakertown High School, some students choose to attend the Upper Bucks Vocational/Technical School. The school is especially designed to cater to those students who have opted to involve themselves in vocational or technical training. The workshop type atmosphere is definitely an asset to students who attend.

The vocational courses provide students with an opportunity to gain hands-on experience and expose them to actual on-the-job problems. This kind of training provides students with a better chance of getting a job after graduation. Vocational courses include carpentry, cabinet making, auto mechanics and masonry.

The technical courses at the tech school provide the same kind of atmosphere as the vocational courses. Technical courses include data processing and computer technology.

In addition to the educational benefits on the tech school, there are some social advantages as well. Students from Pennridge and Palisades also attend Upper Bucks, so students are exposed to a cross section of inter-district student life.

Spirit And Dedication

MARCHING BAND

In the hottest part of August, when most students are still working on their tans, 83 dedicated musicians and marchers were on Alumni Field at nine o'clock in the morning for the dreaded band camp. This week-long experience was just the first step in the learning process for this year's marching band.

The Marching Panthers, under the field direction of drum majors Jon Wilson and Susanna Bright; rifle captain, Brenda Andres; silk captains, Debbie Lawrence and Denise Gross; and majorette captain, Michelle Griffith, participated in competitions, the Quakertown and Upper Perk Halloween Parades, and the Memorial Day Parade. They traveled to all the football games where they delighted the crowds with their innovative show. The band opened with Gustav Holst's powerful "Moorside March," and the concert number was Earth, Wind, and Fire's "In the Stone." They moved on to a military feel with the theme from "Patton," and George Benson's hit, "The Greatest Love of All."

The band also provided the music at pep rallies and the bonfire. Despite their small numbers, the personnel difficulties, a poor record, or bad weather, the Marching Panthers never quit. With the help of Mr. Kenney, Mrs. Krem, and Mr. Vandegrift, this year's "Bandos" showed a loyalty and never-ending spirit that did QCSH proud!

As the marching band season draws to a close around Thanksgiving, frantic preparations begin for concert band activities. Band members hurry to learn those neglected scales in time for the dreaded auditions, only to find, after countless hours of practice, that someone is better than they are. Others will prepare for other auditions.

Since there was no musical this year, the band had to prepare music for two spring concerts, as well as the Christmas concert and commencement programs. Some selections performed were "Greensleeves," "Chant and Jubilo," and the favorite, "Three Diversions For Band." The highlight of the year was the band and choir's trip to Nashville for the "Sounds of America" Music Festival. The band did very well, bringing home a Medal of Merit.

With Mr. Kenney's guidance and the officers' good-natured nagging, ("Does anyone have their money for Mr. Kenney's present?"), the concert band put forth another great effort this year.

Skill And Versatility

CONCERT CHOIR

The concert choir worked hard this year, putting on three successful shows. These successes were due to their talent and the dedicated direction of Mr. Rivera.

At the Christmas concert, the choir performed classical and traditional selections, the most challenging of which were selections from Handel's "Messiah." To add some comic relief was a song from the infamous P.D.Q., Bach called "Good King Kong."

The old and the new were brought into the spring concert. Beautiful melodies like "Alleluia" and the Chamber Singers' "Set Me As A Seal Upon Thine Heart" flowed into more modern tunes from today like "Flashdance, What A Feeling" and Toto's "I Won't Hold You Back."

Dancing and singing, the choir did a lively tribute to American Pop at the Spring Arts Festival. The chorus rocked and bopped to the hits of Billy Joel, Cyndi Lauper, and Michael Jackson, thanks to the choreographic talents of Mr. David Leh.

The high point for the choir was the "Sounds Of America" Music Festival in Nashville, where the choir was awarded a bronze medal.

A Standard Of Excellence

JAZZ BAND

It all began in 1974 when a tall bearded man posed the question, "Jazz?" Since then, the Quakertown Jazz Band has been one of the most popular and successful groups at QCSHS, and this year was certainly no exception. When the dust cleared, the band had captured many awards, including at least one "outstanding" award for every section.

The competition opener for the group was the challenging "Take the 'A' Train" followed by "Song for My Father" in a Latin feel. The climatic finishes were engineered by Mr. Kenney's original and dynamic arrangement of "Hollywood." Other tunes performed in assemblies were "Fred", "Dues Blues", and "Killer Joe".

In the first festival, held at North Penn, the band placed third and Scott Bauman, trombone, was awarded an outstanding soloist award. They then traveled to Upper Moreland, where they received a first place, the outstanding trombone and saxophone section awards, and Frank Parker received an outstanding musical award. The band took second place at Lower Merion, as well as the outstanding rhythm section award. Alto saxophone player, Frank Parker, also received the outstanding musician award. At Southern Lehigh, the band received an overall rating of outstanding. Pianist, Jon Wilson, tied for the best rhythm soloist, and Frank Parker once again was awarded the honor of outstanding musician, as well as the award for outstanding woodwind soloist. In the final competition, hosted at Pennridge, the Jazz Band placed second, and took the Outstanding trumpet section award. Frank Parker also captured his fourth outstanding musician award.

The Jazz band performed at both the spring Concert and the Spring Arts Festival. In addition they competed at the "Sounds of America" music festival in Nashville. Here the group was awarded a bronze medal outshining any other jazz band at the festival.

I.U. FORUM AND COUNCIL

Students Helping Students

Romni Neiman, Pam Moran, Greg Salathe, Darlene Miller, Kim Wismer

Approximately every month selected Student Council Representatives from schools throughout Bucks County got together to discuss topics such as peer pressure, drinking and driving and related subjects. This is IU Forum (Intermediate Unit Forum).

Among the many students who participated in this program, five students from Quakertown Community Senior High attended these meetings. In the coming years members plan to implement a drug abuse program in the elementary schools throughout the county.

Inter-Club Council was a new innovation this year initiated by Mrs. Quinque. The group consisted of a representative from each of the clubs, activities, and sports in our school.

The Council met four times to share news and ideas. They also discussed scheduling conflicts in an attempt to open the lines of communication between organizations.

This year's student government was very active in aiding and representing the student body. They did many things that went unrecognized, such as honoring secretaries during National Secretary Week, serving and setting up at sports banquets and holding monthly meetings. Presiding were Brian McColgan, President; Greg Salathe, Vice-President; Laurie Sine, Secretary; and Gary Peiffer, Treasurer.

Student government also did things to honor the faculty. They helped to organize a faculty appreciation breakfast, the highlight of which was the first "Teacher of the Month" presentation. Mr. Kenney and Mrs. Peischel were the first recipients of this new honor awarded by a student government nominating committee and a vote by the student body.

Celebrating our school's centennial was also high on the group's list of priorities. They were responsible for organizing Grandparents' Day, when residents from the Grundy House and grandparents visited our school for the day. They also sponsored a Senior Citizens Dance in honor of the 100th graduating class. The celebration mood was very much in evidence.

The 1983-84 student government reflected the entire student body character — one of awareness and involvement.

The FIRST EDITION, under the guidance of Mr. Mayer and editor Monica Shaffer, spent the year keeping us informed. The staff published six issues telling us of school events and important happenings around the world.

The job of "contributing editor" was only one of the many duties fulfilled by staff members. Every staffer also had to serve as interviewer, errand person, proofreader, layout designer, and rewriter. It did not take long for staff members to realize that a lot of hard work goes into newspaper production.

"Oops! Here comes Mr. Mayer. Quick, hide!" This was the sort of comment usually uttered by yearbook staffers as deadlines drew nearer. Although the staff started with a large number of people, it dwindled slowly but surely to a dedicated few. "I'll have all the copy by Monday, honest!" became their battle cry.

After the annual yearbook conference at Columbia, we had a good idea of where we were going but faced many difficulties getting there. Scheduling conflicts, personality conflicts, and just plain laziness all conspired to slow us down. As the year wore on, and meetings became more frequent, we put our differences aside and got down to work.

As Mr. Mayer told us from the start, "Yearbooking" is not for everyone! But through hard work and dedication, we all felt satisfaction with a job well done.

PHOTO STAFF

Dennis Berringer, Cindy Morin, Sonja Stalte, Sue Kelly, Steve Muller

Have you ever wondered where these yearbook photographs come from? Some come from professional photographers, and some from individual students, but most come from our own photo staff. This group, with the firm guiding hand of Mr. Pilecki behind them, took most of the candid shots you see in this book. They are also responsible for some group pictures, as well as pictures of the sports teams.

The photo staff also handled photographs for the FIRST EDITION. Their valuable contributions to our school publications will help preserve our memories for a long time to come.

Mr. Ruhl, Advisor

Despite the absence of the musical this year, this year's AV Crew had more than enough to keep them busy. They serve the student body well, and often do not get the recognition they deserve. The crew, this year made up entirely of seniors and headed by the indomitable Mr. Ruhl, covered everything from game films for the soccer team to tapings of the jazz band. Setting up for assemblies, the maintenance of equipment, the running of errands, and keeping people out of Mr. Ruhl's chair were all part of the duties of this tireless group of workers.

So, the next time you see an AV worker in the hall, thank him. He probably deserves it.

Many students might have been puzzled at the sight of a group of seniors rushing around, frantically asking, "Anybody want to join the math club?" This was a small but dedicated group of individuals seeking to start the mathematics/computers club.

Under the guidance of Mr. Mushrush and Mrs. Peischel, the first order of business was the election of officers. With Bettina Stanley as president, Todd Oxenford as vice-president, and Susanna Bright as secretary/treasurer, the club got down to organizing the goals for the year.

The main objective for the fall was organizing a tutoring program for the school's math courses. The club developed a schedule of tutors and subjects, and soon ads began appearing, urging students to "Take advantage of free tutoring by a math club member." The project in the spring was the formation of a math team. An oral competition at East Stroudsburg University saw a heroic effort by the team of Nita Sandhu, Nga Bui, and Sharon Amoss. In a written competition at Lehigh University, the team of Greg Salathe, Nita Sandhu, Bettina Stanley, and Nga Bui placed a very respectable tenth place, and Nita also scored sixteenth individually with a score of 128.

Small But Mighty

DEBATE TEAM

Seated: Greg Salathé, Mrs. Rosenberger, Jon Wilson, Standing: Bettina Stanley, Jeff Prince, Rafe Schoenfeld, Doug Heck

"We have a debate team?" This was the usual response of the student body to the frequent announcements of success by this year's debate team.

Led by a dauntless pair of seniors and the irrepressible Ms. Rosenberger, this fledging group took the region by storm. The group gave a fine showing in all three competitions they attended, despite being the first active debate team from QCSH in a number of years.

In the warm-up event, the county discussion tournament, the team swept three of the top eight individual places. Bettina Stanley, Greg Salathé, and Rafe Schoenfeld finished eighth, sixth, and second, respectively. Despite being the smallest team to attend, the team had the highest cumulative score and was awarded first place overall as well as the swing team award.

The team then traveled to the regional debate tournament in Doylestown. The swing team of Rafe Schoenfeld and Bettina Stanley was not permitted to compete, but the first team of Greg Salathé and Jon Wilson performed brilliantly, and placed first with record-breaking scores. The highlight of the season was the final debates in Philadelphia, where Jon and Greg placed sixth among over thirty teams from four states.

The debate team might have been small, but, as one of the most successful teams at QCSH, they certainly were mighty!

Servicing The Community

FBLA

Row one: Carol Conger, Sue Mahler, Denise Gross, Debbie Lawrence,. Row two: Christine Moyer, Robin Lawrence, Denise Pepkowski, Vicki Gieseke, Nancy Weaver, Rich Urmy, Lisa Ossman

This year was a busy one for the Future Business Leaders of America (FBLA). Under the guidance of advisors Mrs. Barndt and Mrs. Booth, the group embarked on a number of projects worthwhile to the community.

The first of the duties was the election of officers. President Sue Mahler, vice-president Melissa Mann, secretary/treasurer Carol Conger and public relations officer Denise Gross began the planning for the year's activities. First on the agenda was the sponsoring of a dance to benefit the Children's Development Center, held at Christmas. Another dance for the same charity was held over the Easter holiday. The group also took collections for the Statue of Liberty.

The group also hosted and attended regional conferences for FBLA chapters throughout the area. The fall regional workshop was held here at QCSHS, with approximately ten other schools attending. The girls also attended the spring regional conference at Central Bucks East High School.

LIBRARY AIDES

Quietly Efficient

Many students spend informal study and spare time in the library without giving any thought to the people who keep it orderly for them. A small group of library aides spend their free time helping Mrs. Haney maintain this area. They help with cataloguing, shelving books, working at the checkout desk, and performing endless other chores for very little recognition.

Every year, however, one library aide receives special appreciation for his work. Benita Gulbis was this year's recipient of the library award, a special award given to a graduating senior who has served as a library aide and done outstanding work.

Without a musical, this was a relatively slow year for the Art Service Organization (ASO), but that didn't dim the enthusiasm at all. A lot had to be done, and a lot was accomplished.

First of all, the group elected officers, who turned out to be: Chris Wilcox, President; Kathy Sroka, Vice-President; and Mark Amey, Secretary/Treasurer. The group had two major tasks: painting sets, and the Haunted Barn. The Haunted Barn is set up on Halloween to benefit the Optomist Club. This year's plays, "Dear Phoebe" and "Harvey" sported the fine artwork of the ASO on their backdrops and flats.

The group also traveled to New York to see an off-Broadway play. This, plus all the other activities, provided a useful and fun creative outlet for students at QCSHS.

The Youth Traffic Safety Council (YTSC) is a group actively concerned with the safety of others. With the guidance of Mr. Ebersberger, and later, Mr. Trivelpiece, these students did their part to help prevent unnecessary traffic deaths.

To get their message across to the community, YTSC set up programs in the elementary schools and in local shopping malls. These demonstrations featured the "Convincer", a device constructed to "convince" the subject of the wisdom of wearing seat belts. The group also engaged in other safety related activities to increase their own knowledge as well as that of others.

Demanding Excellance

NATIONAL MERIT

Most college bound students will take the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude Test (PSAT) in the fall of their junior year. Although the scores for this are returned in a month, they have deeper signifigance for some students which does not become apparent until the following year. The importance lies in the fact that this is also the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test (NMSQT).

The seven seniors shown here received letters of commendations for their high scores. Although they did not receive any scholarship money, the award indicates that they scored in the top five percent of approximately one million students who took the test nationwide.

CLOSE-UP AND MODEL CONGRESS

Promoting Political Awareness

Every year, a small group of seniors, led by the intrepid Mr. Keiper, spend a week in Washington, D.C. with the Close-Up Foundation. Only three students attended this year because of costs, but this didn't diminish the intense learning experience.

Mark Gahman, Greg Salathe and Bettina Stanley saw aspects of the city, both as our Nation's Capital and a major cosmopolitan city. They met with decision makers, legislators, and media people, as well as attending a dance, a play, and dining at a number of fashionable restaurants. When they returned home a week later, they were tired, but fulfilled and much richer from the experience.

Another sort of political awareness was available to ten lucky seniors chosen by the political Science Department. These hardy few with an "A" average and a good attitude in class attended Model Congress, which was hosted by Central Bucks West High School.

Each of the participants is assigned a Congressman that they must portray during a mock session of Congress. The students experience debating, filibustering, voting, and many other things faced by their representatives. Gary Peiffer said he felt his "understanding of Congress had improved during the session," and Mark Gahman felt his opportunity to converse with other students made the experience a rewarding one.

Although sororities are mostly a college phenomenon, there is one right here at QCSHS. It's called the Girls' Varsity Club, and is open to all girls who have earned their varsity letter in a sport or cheering.

No sorority would be complete without initiation, so, in the fall, all prospective members are put to the test. Armed with lunchboxes, garbage bag diapers, and greased back hair, they must collect signatures from teachers and suffer the degradations forced upon them by the present members.

After electing officers (Pam Moran, President; Gail Reinheimer, Vice-President; and Sharon Amoss, Secretary/Treasurer), the club got involved in many activities. These included sponsoring a dance, and the annual carnation sale for Valentine's Day. All in all, G.V.C. proved to be a productive and enjoyable sisterhood for all involved.

SPORTS

Coach Peiffer's Final Words . . .

The 1983 football season was an exciting roller coaster ride of both positive and inspiring performances mixed with heartbreaking losses and disappointments.

The Panthers performed with great courage and intensity despite relative inexperience and lack of size. Defensively, the team was led by Mark Gahman, Todd Sullivan, Cary Krause, Bill Yerkes, Craig Thompson, and Howie Frei while the offense was spearheaded by Jim Lindsay, Chris Miller, Howie Frei, Mark Gahman, and Craig Thompson. Highlights included wins over Emmaus, Perkiomen Valley, and Souderton and thrilling battles with North Penn, Hatboro, Upper Perkiomen, and Lansdale Catholic. The Panthers also played Holy Cross, an out of state powerhouse from New Jersey, to a scoreless tie. All-Buxmont honors went to Frei, Gahman, Thompson, Hontz, and Sullivan.

The many contributions of the seniors to the football program, in particular, and QCHS, in general, will be long remembered and appreciated. The seniors were a gutsy band of warriors who were a pleasure to coach and a symbol of what is good about high school athletics.

The season also marked the end of Coach Doug Peiffer's 26 years of loyalty and service to the Panther football program.

FIELD HOCKEY

It began in much the same as any other year of hockey, but somewhere along the way something happened. Out of a diverse group of athletes a Buxmont Championship Team emerged. But why this team?

Was it the offense? Karen Nagle, Toni Siwak, and Gretchen Scott had season records of 10, 8, and 6 goals respectively. The offense was unquestionably fine, but this has happened before.

What about the defense? The other teams could not be called pushovers. Wendy Novak had an impressive 80 season saves, allowing only 8 goals, but there have been good keepers before.

Many times the opposing players never even got to the cage! Defenders rarely receive recognition, but Lori Kemp, Jackie Matt, Keri Kline, and Michelle Rice held the opposing teams at bay. But defense has been good in the past. And what about the links, people like Pam Moran, Audrey Afflerbach, and Steph Richter, who held the offense and defense together? Why is this the first Buxmont title since 1976? Why this team?

The answer lies not in the players but in the team itself. The talent was there, but the team became more than the sum of its players. It produced the determination to come from behind. It fostered the "never say die" attitude to play in a driving and bitterly cold rainstorm. Together, the coach and the players produced a closely-knit, determined, and outstanding Buxmont Championship Team.

Elected to the first All Buxmont Team were Gretchen Scott and Toni Siwak. Karen Nagle, Audrey Afflerbach, and Wendy Novak were chosen for the second team, and Pam Moran and Lori Kemp made honorable mention.

SOCCER

What a difference a year makes. Following the success of the 1982 team, which made its first appearance in the District one playoff competition, the 1983 Panther team had a big reputation to live up to. Besides facing fierce competition in the Bux-Mont League, Quakertown lost many key players in key positions to graduation. Coach Bruce Knauss had John Myers, Mike Kensky, Steve Wentz, Ho Pham, Rick Reichenbach, and co-captains Glenn Gibson and Russ Ramsay returning from the previous year. In addition he had Dave Fratrik, Robby Radzai, Lenny Ostroff, Rick Lane, Dan Kolb, Malcolm Glenn and others as newcomers to the varsity squad.

The season saw the Panther booters lose five games by one goal and have a scoreless tie. Injuries to key players like John Myers and Glenn Gibson did little to help matters.

At season's end, the Panthers placed six players on the all Bux-Mont Soccer Team trailing only CB East and CB West. Sophomore Dave Fratrik and senior Russ Ramsey attained Second Team status while junior defenders Dan Kolb and Mike Kensky, junior forward Lenny Ostroff and junior midfielder Robby Radzai chipped in with Honorable Mention.

A further honor was bestowed on Russ as his teammates voted him as the team's most valuable player.

Though this year's team ran into hard times, an experienced team hungry to succeed is returning in 1984 to send Quakertown Soccer to the top of the league.

TENNIS

Mr. Silk, coach

Boys' tennis had some new faces this year, including a few girls. The girls, who once had a team of their own, this year had to compete for the same ten varsity positions the boys did in the new combined team. The two teams were forced to unify due to the School Board's cancellation of funds for a girls' team.

Coach Silk described his players as a "good group of growing tennis players eager to learn and improve." There were six lettermen returning this year, and their dedication and enthusiasm was an asset to the team.

The QCSHS representatives to the Bux-Mont Championships were senior Ken Waibel for singles and juniors Chris Black and Irv Weisel for doubles. For the Sectional Tournament, Coach Silk chose Ken Waibel and Neil Harrison for singles and paired Ken Waibel with Chris Black and Tom Klee with Chip Chandler for doubles.

GIRLS' VOLLEYBALL

Mrs. Nace, coach

The girls' volleyball team completed an enthusiastic and exciting season this year, competing with other high school teams from all over southeastern Pennsylvania. Captains Lori Mirarchi and Diane Miller led the team capably through the season, which closed with the District I competition the last weekend in October.

Districts were held at Lower Merion High School. In Quakertown's pool were three other teams from Bishop Shannahan, Lower Merion, and Nether Providence. The girls split their eight games, with four wins and four losses. They fought some hard games, and played extremely well.

The 1983 squad was made up of Lori Mirarchi, an outside hitter and left back; Kelly Gallagher and Sherry Thompson, both middle hitters; and Kerry Schaefer, also an outside hitter and left back. Darlene and Diane Miller were the team's setters. Jennie Shobert was a substitute right hitter. Karen Vincent and Yvonne Edwards were also substitutes. Becky Eichlin moved up from junior varsity for Districts and played middle front.

The junior varsity also performed well throughout the season. The girls will miss their coach, Jane Nase. She coached her final season in 1983.

CROSS COUNTRY

Mr. Sabol, coach

This year's Cross Country season proved to be one of long miles and strenuous workouts. With only two returning varsity runners, the team had to rebuild. Although only two meets were won, the squad never gave up and steadily improved their times. Most of the team will return next year with more experience and talent.

The young team was led by returning letter winner Gary Peiffer. Peiffer, known for this great sense of direction, proved to be a hard worker and consistent player on the team as he marked his season by becoming a Buxmont medal winner. Kevin Carter, also a returning letter winner, made a name for himself by running a fierce race and by promising to be one of the league's top runners in the future. Rookies, Dave Lutchendorf and Mike Stratton, overcame strenuous workouts to become members of the team and were helped out by Frank Lavin and Dave Haggert, known as the "heart beats" of the team.

The year also marked the return of a girl to the Cross Country squad as Joanne Renner, lover of French restaurants, made her debut on the Buxmont scene. As there is not a girls' Cross Country team, Joanne had to practice with the guys and compete unofficially. Despite these disadvantages, Joanne did well in the meets and looks to win a Buxmont medal in the future.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

Although the Boys' Basketball Team got off to a slow start and ended the season with a 1-16 record, there was still plenty to be proud about the team as well as the season.

From start to finish the Boys' Basketball Team practiced three grueling hours on a daily basis; obviously there was no lack of dedication on the part of team members. Coaches Keeler and Matus were new to the team in November, and provided the impetus behing a well-working and agressive team.

Todd Besch and Dennis Jones were this year's captains. Todd was named MVP and also received honors for his outstanding playing. He was also the only player to be chosen for Honorable Mention of the Bux-Mont Teams.

The most memorable game of the season, though, came when Quakertown lost by only two points to C.B. West who later went on to win the Bux-mont Championship. The score was 65-63, and Quakertown played a game to do us proud.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

The goal of any team is to polish the performance of each of its players so that the team works together as a team by the season end. The Girls' Varsity Basketball Team can claim just that accomplishment.

The girls beat local teams Lansdale Catholic, Palisades, and Southern Lehigh in the pre-season and then went on to post a 11-5 record for the Buxmont League. This was good for third place and a third straight birth in the District I play-offs.

Varsity letter winners included senior co-captains, Pam Moran and Gretchen Scott; juniors, Audrey Afflerbach, Dawn Brader, Wendy Novak, and Vicki Delikat; and sophomores, Traci Edinger, Angie Cygan, and Sherri Thompson. Each girl contributed to a fine 16-7 season.

The girls played their best basketball in the seniors' last league game with a 70-31 victory over Hatboro-Horsham and their two play-off games. The girls beat Upper Merion for the first District I play-off win in the school's history. The girls ended their fine season with a 60-47 well-played loss to defending state champion, Strath-Haven.

Individual honors went to Gretchen Scott and Pam Moran. Gretchen was the team's M.V.P. and a first team all buxmont selection. She scored 973 points in her career at QCSHS. Pam was named to the Second Team All Buxmont and received a special Coaches' trophy at the Winter Sports Banquet for her dedication and leadership. Gretchen and Pam led the girls to a fine 48-19 record in their three years of participation in girls' basketball at QCSHS.

The J.V. Team ended a fine 15-6 season under the leadership of Ms. Sylvia Kalazs. Coach Richter is looking forward to their future contributions to the Varsity Basketball Team.

WRESTLING

This year's wrestling team finished another successful season with an overall record of 17-3. Each wrestler worked hard and his efforts resulted in success. Exceptional team members, Jamie Ritter, Tom Hontz, and Loren Richter all qualified for the State Tournament with Jamie finishing in the top eight. Tom Hontz was voted QCSHC most valuable player.

The Christmas tournament was a big achievement for the team with five champions: Chris Shubert, Chris Fraticelli, Gary Stauffer, Jamie Ritter, and Tom Hontz. There were five wrestlers who made the All Buxmont First Team. The team won second place in the Buxmont League.

Another accomplishment came with the Sectional Tournament where the team won second place. Chris Fraticelli, Tom Hontz, Craig Thompson, and Loren Richter all had first-place finishes.

BASEBALL

The 1984 baseball team had a mixed season as the Panthers handed a loss to every team in the league except for Perkiomen Valley. Quakertown ended with a record just under .500 in league competition.

Coach Rodeghiero was sidelined for several weeks early in the seson with a leg injury. During that time, JV coach Mr. Barrow, took his place, while Mr. Keeler filled in as JV coach.

Pitching duties were shared by Dennis Jones and Tom Hartman while Loren Richter worked behind the plate.

Post-season honors went to Dan Eckert, All Bux-Mont second team and Dennis Jones, Tom Hartman, Cary Krause, and Loren Richter who were All Bux-Mont honorable mention selections. Sophomore Dan Eckert was chosen Most Valuable Player by his teammates.

This was a year of building for the softball team. With all but two of the varsity members being underclassmen, a lot of time was spent on basics, but it was well worth the time and effort.

The first half of the season was somewhat of a disappointment, the only wins being a 16-9 rout of Upper Perkiomen, and a 6-4 victory over their Pennridge rivals. Later on, however, all the time and effort of Coach Roth, Coach Hartigan, and the girls paid off with a three-game winning streak at the end of the season. The climax came in the final game of the season, with a 21-7 victory over Hatboro-Horsham. The Pantherettes, behind MVP Audrey Afflerbach, devastated their opponents to revenge their heartbreaking one-run loss earlier in the season.

GIRLS' TRACK

This year's girls' track team got off to an unusual start. Twelve freshman girls came from Strayer everyday to meet with the rest of the 19 girls to make up the spring track team. This was unusual in itself but in addition, it was unusual to have so many days of bad weather at the season start.

Becky Eichlin, Sheila Bleam, and Kristin Gingrich really stood in front of all opponents as they took all three places in the javelin, shot put, and discus competitions. Gail Reinheimer, Rhonda Riggins, and Angie Cygan were the top sprinters and Sonya Gingrich was the pantherettes' top hurdler.

Gretchen Scott competed in the long jump, triple jump, and high jump while Missy Fox and Tracy Guider joined her in the long and triple jumps.

District qualifiers were Gail Reinheimer in the 100 meter, 200 meter, and 400 meter relay; Rhonda Riggins in the 100 meter and 400 meter relay; Angie Cygan in the high jump, and the 400 meter relay; Tracy Guider in the triple jump; and Gretchen Scott in the high jump, long jump, triple jump, and 400 meter relay.

Qualifying for states was Gretchen Scott, in the high jump, and long jump. She was also chosen MVP in field events and Sonya Gingrich was MVP in running events.

BOYS' TRACK

The boys' track team, under the leadership of first-year coach Jack Sabol, was very strong in some events but lacked the depth necessary to be really competitive in Bux-Mont meets. The young team finished with a 2-6 league, 4-6 overall record.

Senior long, high and triple jumper, John Myers, and senior 100, 200, and 400 sprinter, Brian Repyneck, were voted MVP's for field and running events respectively. Both capped off the season by representing the Panthers in district competition.

Other standouts were Glenn Gibson, pole vault; Derrick Thompson, javelin; Kevin Carter, distance; Ed Byrne, shotput; Dave Morland, hurdler; and Bert Kleppinger, long and triple jump.

BOYS' VOLLEYBALL

Maturity seemed to be the key to this year's boys' volleyball team. With eight of the twelve members being seniors, valuable experience provided the Quakertown spikers with another successful season.

Behind the guidance of Mr. Shobert (coach) and senior MVP Mark Wuerstle, the Panthers never placed less than third in regional tournaments. That mark came in the Central Invitational tournament, and a second place was earned in the Panther Classic. In the rest of the tournaments, the team garnered only first places; these victories came in the Northeasterntown, Bux-Mont, and District I tournaments. This last achievement was rewarded with a berth in the state tournament, where the team placed sixth.

RIFLE

The rifle team finished another successful season with an overall record of 10-1-0 and another Bux-Mont championship, this year shared with C.B. West. This brings the rifle team record to three first-place and one second-place standings over the last four years. But despite the success of the team, its relative obscurity continues.

There does seem to be at least one area of recognition, however. If the team was not well recognized at this school, it was, at least, recognized as "the team to beat" by the other rifle teams in the league. The rifle team is proud of this reputation and hopes to continue it in years to come.

At the end of the seson, certain shooters were accorded special honors. In league standings, Pam Smalley finished second, Matt Hinkle, fifth, and Mike Hinkle seventh. In individual competition, Pam Smalley was first, Matt Hinkle second, Mike Hinkle fifth, and Kathy Sroka, tenth.

Take A Bigger Slice Of Life

With over three hundred students, this year's sophomore class was one of the largest ever to pass through Quakertown Community Senior High School. Not only was their number large, but they were participating in an abundance of activities. Track, basketball, chorus, band, jazz band, and girls' hockey are only a few of the areas that were swamped with sophomore participants. The drama department perked up this year when many sophomores added their own flair to the fall and spring play productions, Harvey and Dear Phoebe. Both plays' directors said that the sophomores' input was invaluable, and coaches of other activities remarked that, "It's nice to see new blood running through this school's veins."

The sophomore class advisor, Mrs. Baker of the business department, helped the sophomores start out the year with a highly-profitable sales campaign. This campaign was geared towards the Christmas holidays and consisted of selling gourmet cheese and sausages, available in gift packs. Later in the year the sophomores held an Easter campaign - - - the sale of Easter candy and stuffed animals.

Although juniors and seniors sometimes overlook them, the sophomores were "up" on everything important. "Flashdance," Michael Jackson, mini-skirts, and plastic shoes were just a few fads that slipped in and out this year, and the sophomores were as swept up in them as other students were.

Sophomores had to face many changes this year. The school rock was gone, there was no spring musical, and the soda machine in the cafeteria was taken away. In spite of this, the sophomores took their lot in stride, making their first year of high school a special one.

Quakertown Boy Skilled In An Oriental Art

Dedication is what makes sophomore, Jim Duffy, a talented judo competitor. At the early age of seven, Jim began the training which has won him much recognition over the years in such faraway places as Canada, Washington state, and Florida.

At the age of eleven, Jim attended a national tournament held in Seattle, Washington in which he took seventh among many competitors from all over the country. He has also competed and placed in many tournaments and Junior Olympics competitions.

Jim practices regularly at the Upper Bucks Y.M.C.A. where his father runs and instructs a judo class. He presently holds a senior sixth-degree blue belt, and with hard work and determination will soon reach his goal, a black belt.

Because of the precautionary training methods that are used in judo, it is relatively injury free although it is a violent contact sport. Jim encourages anyone to come out and give it a try!

"I do not look like Marie Osmond," argues Patsy Connors (Felicita Minotti).

Humphrey (Jeff Bleam) "I'm reading National Lampoon. Let me know when the play's over."

This year marked a definite upward swing in sophomore involvement. One area in which sophomores were especially active was the drama department. Sophomores dominated the casts of both the fall play, Harvey, and Dear Phoebe, produced in early spring. Some of the involved sophomores were making their stage debuts but most had been involved in many past productions in junior high or even elementary school.

Two sophomores with past experience had the leading roles in Harvey: Jeff Bleam, who played Elwood P. Dowd, and Jennifer Shepherd, who played Elwood's sister, Veta Simmons. Another talented sophomore, Scott Landis, had the lead in Dear Phoebe. He played Bill Hastings, a comical college professor. Other sophomores who appeared in either one or both productions included Brant Fulmer, Delbert Roll, Caroline Fraticelli, Ronald E. Lesher, Felicita Minotti, and Dan Moreland.

The sophomores' overwhelming participation in these productions would seem to insure that the QCHS drama department will continue to thrive in coming years. The future of next year's senior class play and spring musical looks bright.

FLORIDA . . . HERE WE COME

Class officers: Jody Esser, Darlene Miller, Chad Freed, and Frank Lavin

Many juniors felt that the junior class would not be able to have a class trip. But through the intense efforts of the class officers and co-advisors, Mrs. Peck and Mr. Blake, a trip is now feasible. This will not be just any trip; this will be a four-day trip to Florida! In their journey the juniors will travel to Orlando, Florida and take in such experiences as Wet 'N Wild, Disney World, and the Epcot Center. But in order to go on a trip in '85, the juniors will have to continue to increase their selling efforts.

This past year was one of active sales campaigns. The Class of 85 sold candy bars, Christmas ornaments, chocolate chip cookies, and also ran the concession stands at sports events. They also organized a successful prom for the seniors. In addition to these projects some juniors worked to earn credit towards the band and chorus trip to Nashville, Tennessee.

In the area of sports, juniors were dominant in softball, girls' volleyball, tennis, and even the annual golf tournament. Another winner of the class of 85 was Dear Phoebe which was directed by a junior, the first student-directed play in Quakertown High School's history. In return, the profits from Dear Phoebe went to the junior class.

Although the upcoming senior year can be a difficult time, the Class of '85 will have that solid core pushing to make it a success.

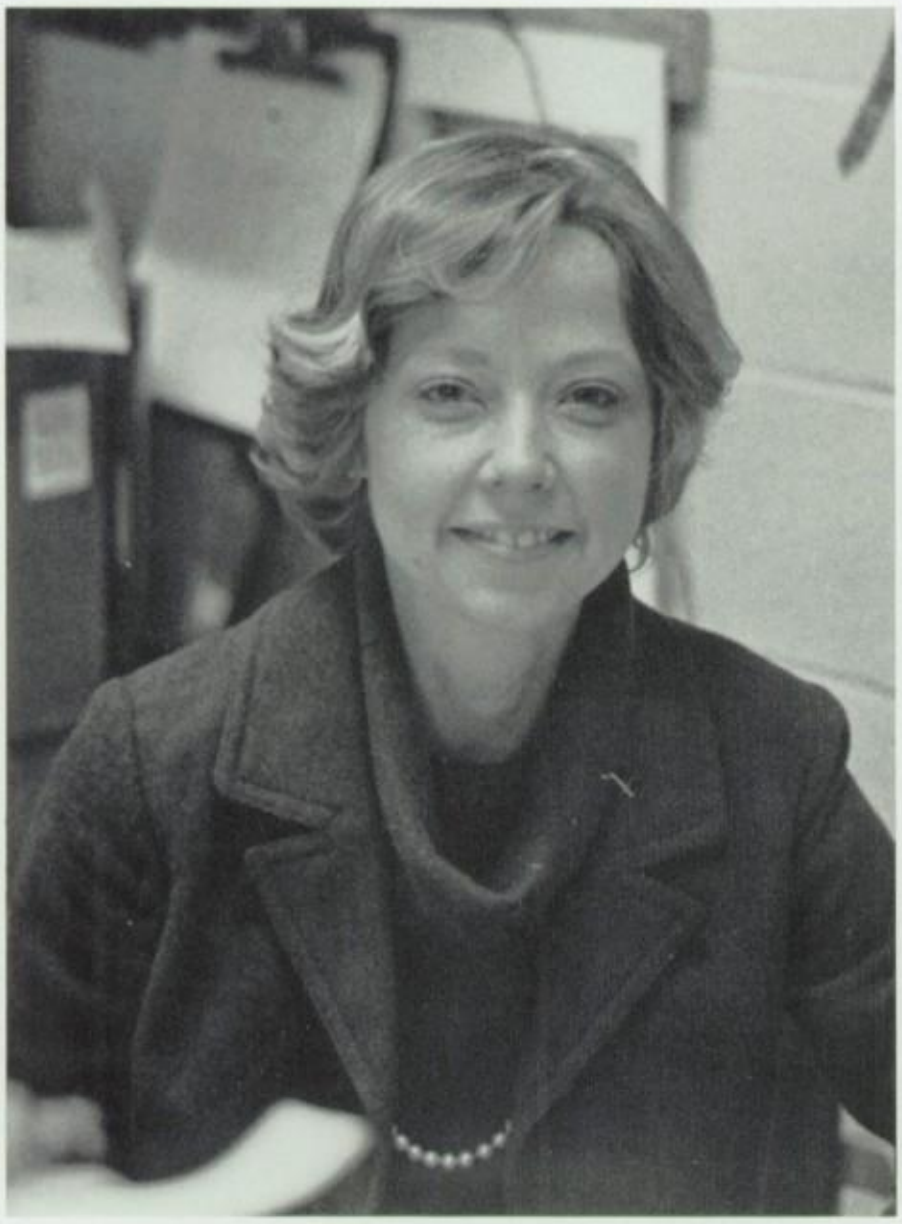
Words To The Wise From Advisors . . .



Mrs. Quinque

You are beginning a new way of life. "You have a committment strongly spent or weakly kept", as Robert Frost said, "to the work or career of a person in progress." The original committment may alter as you grow or be diverted by outside influences. Whether it changes or not, the comimittment is there — and with it your word of honor to fulfill it.

You will need to work hard and be disciplined. Never lose sight of your goal, but continue to look ahead. You will become the person you were meant to be; that person will be the product of a lifetime of dedication — of finding what you are good at and then doing it well!

Good Luck,

Mrs. Quinque

Mr. Conner

In today's society, it is no small accomplishment to graduate from high school. However, one must remember that this is only one major accomplishment of your life. You should attack all tasks with this persistant attitude.

It has been an interesting and exciting three years. I have thoroughly enjoyed working with you and getting to know you. I wish you the best of all that you undertake in the future.

Mr. Conner

Class of 1984 . . . Never Again, Never Before

The class of 1984 entered Quakertown Community Senior High School three years ago as the largest ever incoming sophomore classes. Our new class advisors, Mr. Conner and Mrs. Quinque, told us that our large number would mean greater spirit and cooperation but would provide greater returns. With that thought in mind, we embarked on a journey that was to take us through numerous sales compaigns, to Florida, and ultimately, to a successful graduation.

The first order of business was the election of officers. After campiagn speeches and wild posters, the dust cleared, leaving Michelle Rice, president; Grethchen Scott, vice-president; Nancy Rothrock, secretary; and Romni Neiman, treasurer. The advisors selected an executive committee, and the stage was set for the first sales campaign — meat and cheese. We also sold candy bars and Dorney Park tickets.

Our junior year brought a host of new obstacles, the most notable being the preparations for the prom. The prom committee was born, and proceeded to visit possible sites, discuss menus, and listen to bands. In the end the group decided on the Allentown Hilton as the place and "Truly" by Lionel Richie as the prom theme. Other activities included selling meat and chesse again, and selling cookies. As juniors, we also ran the basketball and wrestling concession stands.

Our senior year was the busiest; in addition to the usual sales campaigns were preparations for the senior class trip. After a poll of the senior class, Florida was the clear-cut choice for the destintation. After a fun-filled four days and three nights, we returned home only to be faced with baccalaureate and commencement rehearsals leading up to our final goal — graduation.

The journey set upon three years ago is now complete. Through our stay in this high school, through studies, activities, finals, relationships, and a host of other things, we gained a new maturity. With the help of our adivisors, faculty members, and, most of all, ourselves, we have made the school and the class of 1984 immeasurably richer.

Award Winning Writers

Jonathan Wilson and Gary Peiffer, both seniors, are winners in the 1983 National Council of Teachers of English Achievement Awards in Writing (NCTE).

To participate, each entered two written compositions. These compositions were judged by both a high school and a college English teacher.

As winners, both will receive certificates of commendation from the NCTE and will be recommended for college admission and scholarships by the NCTE.

The NCTE has sponsored this contest for twenty-six years. It encourages high school students with their writing and recognizes publicly some of the best student writers in the nation.

Congratulations to both winners!

Ryan Funk, Playing The Fast Lane

Ryan Funk lives in the fast lane. His sport is ice hockey and he is a member of the Lehigh Valley Comets which plays in Allentown at the Ice Palace.

Ryan's team practices every Thursday evening from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. Most of the games are played on Saturday night. Ryan plays forward for his team and has been doing rather well at that spot. His team is 6-2-2 and has a winning streak going.

Ryan got interested in hockey when he watched his brothers play on the street. Since then Ryan has been playing this sport constantly for ten years and has been playing in an organized league for four years. His other interests are baseball and volleyball. When asked if he intended to keep playing hockey when he graduated, he replied, "Yes, I would never stop playing. It just means too much to me."

Striving For Success

Once a week, Anne D'Aquino goes to the Quakertown Hospital for three hours to futher her knowledge in emergency care. Anne, along with a handful of students, as well as other patrons in our community, have taken "The American Red Cross Advanced First Aid and Emergency Care Course," which is sponsored by the Quakertown Community Hospital.

This isn't the only course Anne has ever taken in emergency care. Her other classes include two Basic Life Support Courses, two Cardio-Pulmonary Resusitation Courses, and one Life Saver Course.

Anne has not only taken these programs in order to support her in her future career, which will be to specialize in Pediatricts and/or Genetic Research, but also to enrich her knowledge of first aid care.

Anne says it best when she says, "Too many emergency situations arise and very few know what to do."

Jay On Drums

If you haven't been able to find Jay Nickisher lately, it is probably because he is practicing his drums. Jay believes the key to success is hours of practicing, and since Jay plans to turn that key, he is spending many hours at the drums these days. At present, Jay practices four hours a day and can often be found jamming to heavy metal music with his band in Quakertown's Memorial Park.

Jay has been drumming for two years and plans to go professional after high school. Jay, sometimes referred to as Nick, and his band have played at various parties and the no-longer-existing, Mountain Amusements.

During his three high school years, Jay attended the technical school, where he studied masonry. Jay's hard work and determination will certainly pay off. Jay promises to remember all friends by granting front row seats at his first major concert.

A Summer At Fort Dix

Why would a senior in high school want to spend almost an entire summer in basic training at Fort Dix?

Bill Butler, a senior who attended basic training this past summer, has the answers to why he went through with it. "The money is good, you look better on job applications and college applications, and I get a head start on ROTC."

For the first week, Bill attended a reception station where uniforms were obtained. Bill was in the fourth platoon of Delta Company that consisted of sixty guys.

First was the "White Phase," the first two weeks of basic training where he learned drilling and ceremony. Second, was the "Red Phase" which lasted the third, fourth, and fifth weeks. Here, Bill learned how to range shoot with emphasis on the M-16. Third was the "Blue Phase" which lasted the last three weeks. This was where recruits learned basic skills for living outdoors. Finally, at the end of the last week he had to qualify in all areas.

Bill said, "I expected Basic Training to be harder than it was. At times it got tough, but we all stuck it out together."

Scientists Dream, Engineers Do

Some students have no idea what they're going to do after high school, while others are already destined to a career, Chris Miller is one of those students who already has a clear picture of his future.

Chris, like his father and two of his older brothers, wants to be an electrical engineer.

As most people already know, Chris won the Regional Finalist of the Space Shuttle Student Involvement Project in 1982 in his sophomore year. He did his project on gyroscopes and won a trip to Goddard Space Flight Center to meet with the scientists.

Apart from this experience, he also works on washing machines, televisions and radios. But, the one project that he is particularly proud of is his '52 Nash Rambler, which he restored from a hunk of rusted metal to a first-place winning show car.

Chris says working on projects such as these brings in the mechanical aspect of engineering. Some of Chris' other hobbies are sailing, football, shot putting, and weight lifting. He will be attending Penn State University, his family's alma mater, in the fall of 1984. As Chris puts his career outlook in perspective, he says, "Scientists dream of doing things, but engineers do them."

A Breed Apart

Each year there is one athlete who stands apart and above all the rest; this year was no different. Gretchen Scott is an all-around athlete involving herself in basketball, field hockey, and track. Gretchen was recently voted 1983 Athlete of the Year, by the Free Press and North Penn Reporter.

In hockey, Gretchen received an award of Honorable Mention as a sophomore, and was voted Most Valuable Player in her senior year. She also made First Team All Bux-Mont in both her junior and senior years.

Honors in basketball include Second Team All Bux-Mont and First Team All Bux-Mont in her sophomore and junior years, respectively. She was also named to the All-State Team in her junior year.

In track, Gretchen placed third in the high jump at States and was voted MVP in her sophomore year.

Through dedication and hard work, Gretchen has achieved a goal for herself as well as respect from her teammates and opponents.

A New Friend

Have you heard that catchy, exotic accent in your travels around the QCHS halls. It belongs to the very pretty Christina Maria Sjoberg? She is the Rotary Exchange Student from Sweden. She will be living with two host families while she is in the United States. She is staying with the Shobert and Ebersberger families.

Christina is involved in many activities — downhill skiing, wind-surfing, swimming, sailing, waterskiing, sewing, knitting, and she loves to travel.

United States schools differ from Swedish schools in many respects. In Sweden, classes are forty minutes long. There is a ten-minute break between all classes. There is a seven-day week that goes from Monday through Friday. And then Monday and Tuesday of the following week are the sixth and seventh days.

We hope Chris's stay in Quakertown is a happy one. All her friends and acquaintances will miss her quick smile and sparkling personality.

BACCALAUREATE . . .

This year's Baccalaureate service was inspiring. Week-long rain showers brought the service indoors to the confines of the auditorium.

The feeling engendered by our voices and hearts joining together in praising God and asking for His guidance in our future lives touched everyone. The choir sang beautiful pieces: the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah and the spiritual "Be Ye Glad." The sermon given by Reverend Brosius, entitled "The Search for Truth" showed that the way to find truth in life was through God. It was a fine Baccalaureate service.

AND COMMENCEMENT

Graduation was the finale of twelve years of studies, of friendships, of childhood. As we heard our classmates' names called one by one, we reflected on relationships with friends and teachers and wondered if they would survive the change to adulthood.

The speakers talked of our past accomplishments and new future. Dr. Leight said our graduation ceremony " . . . signals that you have reached a new level of responsibility . . . you must step beyond what a wise man said, that we as children are not their possessions but only lent to them to guide in shaping a new future.

Rachel Prince and Jim Stoudt described the class time capsule, a collection of souvenirs from our last year of high school. The time capsule will be kept in two lockers outside the office until our Twenty-fifth Class Reunion.

The class officers surprised everyone with a new "rock" in memory of the old one. Before its removal the rock was a place for us to express our opinions and school spirit. The class officers improvised and satisfied the tradition of seniors painting the rock at graduation.

Our class president, Michelle Rice, also thanked Mrs. Quinque and Mr. Conner for their dedication and help as our class advisors. She and the other class officers presented them with gifts, a saphire necklace and earrings for Mrs. Quinque and a set of golf clubs for Mr. Conner.

After the presentation of diplomas and the singing of the alma mater all hats flew up in the air. The bittersweet emotion of high school seen from the other side of graduation brought tears to many eyes and inspired many warm embraces.

The laughter,
the tears,
The hopes and the fears,
Of days now
gone past,
In memories
will last,
As onward,
we seek,
Our futures
to meet.

Best Wishes
